SOLDIERS SHED THE BLOOD OF A PLEADING POPULACE

RUSSIA ALMOST IN THROES OF REVOLT

GOVERNMENT BLAMES STRIKERS FOR THE GREAT BLOODSHED

FOREIGNERS APPEALED TO.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The executive committee of the revolutionary league has appealed to the American, British, French and Italian embassies asking them to bring foreign influence to bear on the Russian government in favor of conciliating the masses. There have been no serious disturbances today. The military have the situation in hand at present.

DRIVEN BACK BY CAVALRY.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—Several thousand strikers of Basil Island attempted to cross the St. Nicholas and Palace bridges this afternoon but were driven back by the cavalry.

NO PETROLEUM SOLD.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—There are rumors of incendiarism which caused the police to take the precaution of prohibiting the sale of petroleum. The minister of the interior has ordered all workmen's clubs, including the headquarters of clubs, forcibly closed.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF DEATHS.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The official statement of casualties estimated the dead at seventy-six, and the wounded at 233. These figures are everywhere ridiculed.

The lowest estimate outside of officialdom places the dead at two hundred. The official figures do not include the casualties at Basil Island last night, where a large number, variously estimated at two thousand, was killed and wounded.

INSISTENT STRIKERS ARE BLAMED.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The government has issued a statement blaming the workmen for yesterday's bloodshed. Most of the responsibility is ascribed to Father Gapon, leader of the strikers.

SIGNS OF INSUBORDINATION.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—It is learned that the greatest uneasiness is felt by the authorities owing to the troops having given signs of insubordination. This disaffection it is said is spreading among the crews of the third Baltic squadron.

Not Even Women Spared.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—With hundreds of men, women and children shot down by troops in the streets, one regiment of soldiers in revolt and thousands of workmen raising barricades in the streets, an emote that may develop into a revolution, rent St. Petersburg from center to circumference yesterday.

The turbulent condition followed the refusal of the czar to receive the petition of the strikers, led by Father Gapon. Instead of listening to the entreaties of the men, the czar went to the palace outside the city and the men were met at every entrance to the city by soldiers and dragoons, who lashed men and families, cut the more obstreperous persons down with sabres or shot to death those who at a distance hurled stones and tore down buildings and telegraph poles to erect barricades. The dowager empress has fled to the suburban palace. Firing continued late in the night at some points.

Czar Would Not Receive.

Minister of the interior Sviatopolk-Mirsky presented to his majesty the invitation of the workmen to appear at the winter palace and receive their petition; but the emperor's advisors already had taken the decision to show a firm and resolute front, and the emperor's answer to 100,000 workmen trying to make their way to the palace square was a solid array of troops who met them with rifle, bayonet and sabre. Priest Gapon, leader and idol of the men, in golden vestments holding aloft a cross and marching at the head of thousands of workmen through the narrow gate, escaped a volley which laid low half a hundred persons. But the blood which crimsoned the snow has fired the brains and passions of the strikers and turned women as well as men into wild beasts and the cry of the infuriated populace is for vengeance.

The sympathy of the middle classes is with the workmen.

Fighting Was Furious.

The fighting meantime continued at various places, soldiers volleying and charging the mob. The whole city was in a state of panic. Women were running through the streets seeking lost members of their families. Several barricades were carried by the troops.

Towards 8 o'clock in the evening the crowds, exhausted, began to disperse leaving the military in possession.

Beginning of Revolution.

If Father Gapon, the master mind of the movement, aimed at open revolution, he managed the affair like a genius to break the faith of the people in "the little father," who, they were convinced by Father Gapon, would right their wrongs and redress their grievances. Gorky, the Russian novelist, expresses the opinion that yesterday's work will break this faith of the people in the emperor. He said:

"Today began revolution in Russia. The emperor's prestige will be

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 23.—John Gossett, a packer, killed John Doaner at the army post. Last night missing his daughter, Gossett went to Doaner's house where he found her. With a large knife he severed out his heart and inflicted twenty-five other wounds. Gossett was arrested.

Four Killed in Wreck.

Middlesboro, Ky., Jan. 23.—A head on collision between freight trains on the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Shawnee, Tenn., resulted in the death of four railroad men and the injury of four others, two of whom may die.

The known dead are:
James Klutz, fireman, of Middlesboro, Ky.

George Money, of Corbin, engineer.

Will Harris, of Corbin, fireman.

Irakemian Laughley, of Norton, Va.

Those believed to be fatally injured are:
Will Terry, of Corbin, engineer.

Will Killinger, of Corbin, conductor.

The southbound train should have met the northbound train, which was a double-header, at Wheeler, Va. The trains met 300 yards east of the station at Shawnee, at an angle of a slight curve, and came together with terrific force. All three engines were completely demolished.

Four Burned to Death.

Iron River, Wis., Jan. 23.—The home of George Burns was burned yesterday. Mrs. George Burns, Jennie May Burns, aged seven, and Virginia Burns, aged four, and Miss Elsie Miesner of Washburn, Wis., a school teacher, were burned to death.

Killed His Children.

McPherson, Kan., Jan. 23.—Chas. Tuxhorn, a farmer, killed his two sons, aged six and ten years, burned the house and barn with contents and shot and killed himself. Tuxhorn smothered his sons to death and took the bodies to a neighbor's orchard, half a mile distant, where he laid them with blankets. He had been arrested for mistreating his wife and children.

ECHO IN PARIS.

Students Who Sympathize With Russia Are Attacked.

Paris, Jan. 23.—Riots occurred in the Latin Quarter this morning. Socialist students started the demonstration in sympathy with the St. Petersburg strikers. Several hundred ran through the streets yelling their sentiments and in a skirmish with a band of Nationalists a number were injured but none seriously.

THE CONFEDERATE REUNION JUNE 14, 15, 16

New Orleans, Jan. 23.—Gen. William E. Miller, adjutant general and chief of staff, gives official notice that the next reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will be held in the city of Louisville on June 14, 15, and 16. He adds that the good people of that city promise that this shall be such a perfect meeting that none heretofore held or hereafter can be even named with it.

LIFE OF GEN. LEE VIVIDLY PRAISED

Rev. T. J. Newell Preaches Fine
Sermon at Methodist Church.

Rev. G. W. Perryman Will Tomorrow Return From Knoxville and Decide Sunday.

NEWS OF OTHER CHURCHES

Both morning and evening services at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday were of an especially interesting character and large congregations were present on the occasions. In the morning Rev. T. J. Newell gave a very fine discourse on "The Value of a Right Life," with especial reference to the character and fame of General Robert E. Lee. He emphasized by various authors, poets and statesmen the value of the life behind the work, and stressed the thought that lasting fame only comes from work that is offered with "clean hands." Many Confederate veterans and daughters of the Confederacy were present for the sermon. The offertory was sung by Miss Ita Hart and Mr. Robert Chastaine. The pulpit at night was filled by Secretary Blake Godfrey, of the Y. M. C. A., who made a strong and forcible address, with many virile and telling points. Mr. Godfrey is a most agreeable and attractive speaker, possessing the requisite magnetism necessary to put a speaker in touch with his hearers. He strengthened the agreeable impression already made here by his thoughtful earnest address last night.

There will be a joint meeting of the board of directors and the woman's committee of the Y. M. C. A. and Secretary Godfrey at the association building this evening. The board of directors will meet first and reorganize, adding some new members to their number. The woman's committee will act as assistant to the directors in their work, and there is hearty sympathy, and co-operation between the two. Much interest and enthusiasm has been evinced by the directors in the re-opening of the association. The settling of the indebtedness of the association will be the chief business discussed tonight.

Rev. G. W. Perryman will return tomorrow from Knoxville, Tenn., where he preached at the Baptist church yesterday. He has not yet decided whether he will accept the call to the church there, but it is understood that he will decide next Sunday. It is reported that he will accept, but this has not been decided on.

Rev. J. W. Gant, of Hopkinsville, who was expected yesterday to fill the pulpit of the First Christian church in the absence of Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, failed to arrive, and there was no service at this church beyond the regular communion service in the morning.

Rev. T. E. Hickey, of Princeton, and pastor of the East Baptist church of this city, preached yesterday morning at the First Baptist church, and Dr. B. T. Hall filled the pulpit at night.

The religious work of the Y. M. C. A. was inaugurated yesterday afternoon with a pleasantly informal service at 3 o'clock conducted by Secretary Blake Godfrey. The service was splendidly conducted and was one of interest. The attendance was very promising for a beginning. Mr. Godfrey is especially adapted to handling such meetings and will make this feature a very successful one of the work here.

CZAR REFUSED PEOPLES' PETITION

Innocent Women and Children Died by the Score in the Massacre.

List of Dead Variously Estimated—First Reports Exaggerated.

FEARED AN ARMED UPRISING MAY FOLLOW—MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

CZAR REPORTED ASSASSINATED.

New York, Jan. 23.—It is reported this afternoon that the Czar of Russia has been assassinated, but the report cannot be confirmed.

THE DYNASTY MAY GO DOWN.

London, Jan. 23.—I have had a talk with Dr. Sakslee, editor of Free Russia. He says Father Gapon still believes in the czar's good faith and urges the workmen to approach the emperor. They have suspicions here that the reactionary party decided to strike a decisive blow at the disconsolated population, and therefore waited till the whole mass were in the streets in order to strike terror.

This criminal policy may be crowned with success for a few days or weeks, but will necessarily be followed by an armed uprising in the industrial centers and an Agrarian war.

If the czar accepts the Zemstva resolution the dynasty may be saved, but the strikers' petition goes much further. Today's bloodshed will make the popular demands more extreme. The real enemies of the people are the Cossacks, but the final victory of the revolution is beyond doubt.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

Vienna, Jan. 23.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that martial law has been declared there. Under the provisions of this law, the authorities are empowered to arrest, place on trial and pronounce sentences, including the death penalty, within six hours.

MANY EXPLOSIVES STOLEN.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—Looting shops in Old St. Petersburg, has been sternly suppressed, but thousands of explosives have been stolen by strikers from the Putiloff iron works.

The first stories of casualties at the Barricade fights exaggerated, and it is now thought about fifty were killed, and two hundred wounded.

The report that Grand Duke Sergius, the czar's uncle, had been assassinated, was untrue. Workmen attacked his residence and broke all the windows, battering down the doors, when troops appeared and dispersed them. The grand duke at this time was with the czar at Tsarskoe Selo.

WORST BELIEVED TO BE OVER.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The feeling is growing that the worst is over, unless the workers on Basil Island, who broke into vodka shops shortly before noon, are able to get together in force and carry either Nicholas or Palace brigades. At present there are no signs of such a movement.

ADMIRALTY WORKS BURNING.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The report which reached here this morning that the admiralty works at Sevastopol were burning, was later confirmed.

SCHOOLS ALL CLOSED.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The government has decided on the most stringent measures to check the populace today. The schools are closed and in many places the water supply is cut.

GRAND RUSSIAN EMBASSY.

London, Jan. 23.—As a result of a report of nihilists in London, five police officials are guarding the Russian embassy.

DOWAGER EMPRESS LEAVES.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The Dowager Empress left for Tsarskoe Selo this morning.

Both Sides Gather.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The bloodiest acts of yesterday's emote occurred around the large square between the winter palace and the vast semicircular building occupied by the government offices. Into this square run several avenues and the people sought entrance at various gates to the square to present the petition to the czar. The square was filled early in the morning with infantry and cavalry ready for desperate business.

The strikers gathered at the various entrances to the square, the number augmenting momentarily. The petitioners cursed the soldiers for obstructing the way to the palace square and other promised that no harm was meant to the czar. They asked only that he hear their grievances. The czar was at the Tsarskoe Selo, several miles away.

Blood Soon Began to Flow.

By 1:30 p. m. the crowd in the bridge of the avenue leading to the Moika canal was so large that the horse guards were ordered to clear the bridge. At a sharp gallop that raised a cloud of crisp snow the dragoons dashed into the crowd. The shrieks of the wounded rent the air. Then came silence, broken by the galloping of ambulances. Quiet prevailed 20 minutes.

Then came the hulchery that flooded the admiralty gardens in the palace square with the blood of Russia.

PECULIRA RITES OVER LIN SING HERE

His Brother Conducted the Services at Undertakers.

All the Local Celestials Were Present—Paper Scattered En Route to the Train.

BURIAL TO BE AT MEMPHIS

The remains of Lin Sing, the Chinaman who died here a week ago yesterday, were taken to Memphis last night for temporary burial. Saturday afternoon the shroud arrived from Chicago and he was placed in it. There was a black skull cap, a long, flowing black robe, with wooden shoes with white leather soles.

Two services were held before the body was taken to the train, one Saturday afternoon late and the other yesterday afternoon, and both were conducted by the brother of the deceased, Sam Sing, of Memphis, at the Nance & Pool undertaking establishment. The ceremonies were very peculiar and consisted of all kinds of "Chinese" talk, burning of incense, chop sticks, candles and a coal bucketful of strange kind of paper. The members of the Chinese colony here were all present.

The box was then sealed and the remains taken to the depot. Sam Sing occupied a seat on the hearse and all the way to the depot cast out small pieces of peculiar looking paper with holes in it, for the purpose, it is said, of "keeping away the evil spirits."

The Memphis Commercial-Appel, in speaking of the burial there of Lin Sing, says:

"News reached the city yesterday that Lin Sing's body would arrive tonight and that funeral arrangements would then be made.

"A Chinese funeral is interesting. At least one a year is held in Memphis. The Almond-eyed Celestials gather at the grave of their departed countrymen twice during the year and place thereon instead of floral tributes, edibles sufficient to carry them through their long journey to the other world.

"The Chinese are always interred in Elmwood cemetery in the 'China lot,' and all the Orientals of the city gather to witness the last sad rites over the body of their departed countrymen. The graveyard, or cemetery is called a 'park' when it is designated in English. In the west back in the days of '49 and '50, the Chinese used to cover their graves with choicest condiments and choicest viands, and as soon as their backs were turned the 'digger' Indians would steal the delicacies."

Sam Sing leaves in about a month with the body for Hong Kong, and will remain about six months in China, and then return to Memphis to engage in the tea business. He will go out of the laundry business as soon as he can sell out.

IS HE DEMENTED?

Yard Officer Has Trouble With Unknown Man.

Special Officer J. F. Bailey, of the I. C. night watch has had some very strenuous times of late with an old man hobo who is partially demented. It is thought.

The old fellow hung about the sand house at night and was chased out several times. Last night he went into the south yards, entered the tool car of Section Foreman Charlie Moore and built a roaring fire in the stove and proceeded to make himself at home.

Officer Bailey discovered him and forcibly ejected him with specific instructions to quit the railroad yards or suffer the consequences of a warrant in court.

CHANGE IN OFFICERS' MEETS THIS MORNING.

Officer Aaron Harley, who has been ill for a week, reported for duty this morning and Officer Dick Woods, who has been acting in his place, took the beat of Former Officer T. J. IN GOOD ORDER

Are Dairies—No Ticky Cattle Until Spring.

Dr. C. G. Warner, milk and meat inspector, says that he finds everything in good order, especially the slaughter houses and dairies.

Ticky cattle is a thing of the past, and no more trouble from this source will be experienced until spring, if then. Dr. Warner says that ticks die in the winter and at present the quarantine on Texas cattle is raised and any number can be shipped without inspection.

When spring comes, however, Dr. Warner will make inspection on all Tennessee river boats bringing cattle into the city, being determined not to let the fever get in local stock.

Rev. Carlisle P. B. Marthe, L. L. D. Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm, which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Hallard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." 25c, 50c and $1.00. NEW MARKET HOUSE TO BE RECEIVED

Meeting of Both Boards to be Held Tonight.

The Mayor Will This Week Call the Committee to Name the New Hospital.

THE NAME MUST BE RATIFIED.

The legislative boards will meet in joint session tonight for the purpose of receiving the report of the public improvement committee on the new market house.

"I have called the meeting tonight to avoid delay in getting the place into service," Mayor Velsor explained, "and had I waited until the next regular meeting, the house would have been closed for three weeks, while as it is, can be opened this week if accepted tonight."

"I will this week call the committee appointed from the boards and medical association for the purpose of naming the city hospital," he continued, "and select some name for the institution. You understand the committee has this matter entirely in charge and as the hospital is nearing completion and should be named, hope the committee will act this week. I will call the committee together probably about Thursday."

The committee will first select some means of naming the hospital, and then select the name and report to the two boards for ratification.

While the work of the committee will still in all probability be ratified, if some board members do not like the name, they can vote against it and cause its defeat. No trouble in naming the hospital is anticipated, however, although this matter has created much interest in the medical fraternity.

A PADUCAH MAN FOR U. S. SENATOR

The senatorial contest in the state of Washington is of unusual interest in Paducah and Southwest Kentucky because a former resident of the Purchase is one of the leading candidates. Mr. Sam Piles, a leading attorney of Seattle, received 34 votes at the last balloting, and his opponent, Mr. Foster, a millionaire, leads with only 44 votes, while Sweeney received 27, Wilson 17, Jones 7, and Goodman 5, making a total of 134. It is expected that when some of the minor candidates are dropped Mr. Piles will win.

Thieves Make Small Haul at Leo Jones, 11th and Burnett.

The grocery and saloon of Leo Jones, at 11th and Burnett streets, was entered by thieves last night, and $5.75 stolen, in addition to some whiskey and other things of minor value. The thieves broke a glass in the rear end and gained entrance, leaving no clue.

Mr. Edward O. Yancey, of Minneapolis, Minn., has returned home.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Paducah.

J. W. Wootan, the well known woodworker, now retired, residing at 1403 Burnett street, says: "I have a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills because they do just what is claimed for them. I have had kidney trouble more or less for fifteen years. After trying a number of remedies that gave me very little relief, if any, I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at DuBois, Kolb & Co's drug store and began to take them as directed. I found them to be the very thing for my trouble. In a few days I noticed a great change in my condition. Before taking the pills my rest at night was greatly disturbed, but now I can go to bed and rest as peacefully as anyone. I give all the credit for this to Doan's Kidney Pills."

"DO RIGHT" PARSON KILLED IN CAIRO

Rev. Grayor, Colored, Killed by One of His Own Race.

Two Bullets Struck Him, Either Fatal—George Carr Is His Slayer.

GRAYOR DESPOILED HIS HOME.

"Rev." William Grayor, sometimes erroneously called "Greer," the well known colored "Do Right" preacher, was shot and killed in Cairo last night by George Carr, colored, whose home Grayor is alleged to have despoiled.

From the reports the shooting was a cold-blooded affair, but Carr seems to have the sympathy of the colored people there.

The Cairo Bulletin of today thus recounts the killing:

Another of the awful tragedies which have recently marred Cairo Sabbath was committed yesterday when George Carr, colored, better known as "Shorty," shot a colored fellow known as "Do Right" Greer. The shooting occurred near the corner of 16th street and Commercial avenue about 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

One of the bullets entered the back of his head and issued from his mouth, while another entered the temple and buried itself in the negro's head.

The shooting was evidently a cold-blooded affair, but Carr has the sympathy of a majority of the colored people of the better class. It seems that ill feeling had existed between Carr and Greer for some time. The latter posed as a preacher and frequently made rambling talks on the street corners to the colored people. He also conducted meetings in the little building at 1415 Commercial avenue formerly used as a blacksmith shop, and known as the "Do Right" church.

Greer's influence and prestige as a "preacher of the gospel" brought him in close relation with the female members of the congregation and it is stated on good authority that he is the despoiler of several homes—six being mentioned. Among the women upon whom Greer lavished his attentions was the wife of George Carr who lives at 421 17th street. He also conducts a barber shop and restaurant at the corner of 14th and Poplar streets and is well to do among his class.

It was while making one of the speeches referred to that Greer is charged with making the following remark: "You folks all say I am another Sam Wile. Now, I got to, what you come to do about it?" It is claimed that he frequently said such things to his flock and in the presence of Carr.

It seems that Carr knew of Greer's actions but took no notice of them other than to plead with his wife to have nothing to do with Greer. The preacher had great persuasive powers, however, and induced Carr's wife to take a trip south with him, it is said. He soon tired of her and she returned to Cairo followed by Greer who again commenced paying her attentions in a short time. Carr bore with such conduct, for the sake of his six children, until he could stand it no longer, when he decided to rid the earth of the man who had caused him so much trouble.

He prepared himself and overtook Greer on Commercial avenue when he fired the shots which resulted in Greer's death last night at 12:27 o'clock at his room, 211 19th street. Reports differ as to whether or not the men quarreled before the fatal shots were fired but it is said Carr fired at Greer as the latter was walking away from him. He fired two more shots, stooping over at the third shot and taking deliberate aim at Greer as he lay on the sidewalk. He then went to police headquarters and gave himself up to the officers.

Greer bears a bad reputation with those who know him best and was run out of Paducah recently where he attempted his practice of preaching on the streets. Coroner McManis will hold an inquest over the remains this morning.

Carr was taken to the county jail. He was duly sober at the time he did the shooting.

Grayor is well known in Paducah. He came here about three years ago and soon, by his loud, exciting chants on the streets founded here a branch of a sect he called the "Do Right" church, which seems to be little else than an ignorant appeal to the more ignorant and superstitious of the colored

The Best Receipt.

Paying bills with checks is the simplest and safest way. A canceled check is the best receipt.

It is direct proof that you have paid a bill, because it bears the signature of the one to whom the bill was owed which proves that the bill has been paid.

An ordinary bill may be marked paid, but that is not a safe proof that it has been paid, because the bill may be marked paid and then the same bill may be used again. A canceled check is the only safe proof that a bill has been paid.

Any checks you may receive are always safe, because they may be used as receipts for the same amount. If you have a bank, start an account and receive your bills with checks.

race. He seems to have gained great influence over some of the negroes, and was never without friends.

He was frequently in trouble in Paducah and had been arrested for immoral conduct, and for disturbing the peace, and often he had to be run off the streets, and was finally positively ordered to do no more preaching on the streets. He then moved to Cairo, Ill.

Grayor was a man about 30 or 35, and very tall, of a "flashy" type. He is alleged to have caused trouble in Cairo by his conduct. He is said to have been here no longer ago than last Wednesday.

He is said to have been a native of Georgia, but had been around a great deal, and learned many of his tricks in cities such as Chicago.

STRANGE REQUEST.

A Boy, Tiring of Bad Company, Wants to Go to Reform School.

A 16-year-old boy went to Chief of Police James Collins this morning and stated he wanted to be sent to the reform school.

"I have been running with a gang and can't break away from it," he explained, "and want you to send me to the reform school. My parents will consent and I think I may learn to do better there."

Chief Collins promised him that he would do all he could and this morning a telegram was sent to Lexington, where the school is located, asking if there was room for one more. Judge Sanders is looking up the law and thinks that the boy can be sent up although there is no charge against him.

Chief Collins will not divulge the youth's name, but says he is well known and comes from a prominent family, his father being a well-known merchant.

MUCH WORK

AHEAD FOR ENGINEER WASHINGTON IN STREET LINE.

He is Awaiting for the City to Build on the Block to Be Built.

City Engineer L. A. Venable is very busy at the present time preparing for the street line work that is to be made this year, as there is a vast amount of preliminary work to do, and he wants to get it all done and have everything ready for specifications and bids.

It is probable that the matter will be taken up as soon as possible, and the city will decide what contracts to let first, so the engineer will know where to begin.

There is considerable work yet to do on Broadway before the bluish-le work is finished, but the city does not want it done now because the weather might become so after the street was torn up that it could not be replaced, and the public would be deprived of its use, where it is now able to use it. The contractors do not want some of the work, where the street sank in and allowed it to settle down, to be received as it is, as they want the job to be a creditable one all around. The city is now trying to ascertain if the street can be formally received now, and the estimates awarded, or must it wait until the repairs are entirely finished.

NEW BIDS FOR PRINTING CITY REPORTS.

Auditor Alex Kirkland will this week ask for new bids from printers for the printing of the annual reports.

Bids were received and opened a week ago, but no action was taken because Mayor Velsor did not think they were figured correctly by all bidders. The matter is in the hands of the auditor who reports the bids to Mayor Velsor.

IT'S A queer religion that is never happy unless it is making some one miserable.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

The difference between municipal ownership and private ownership, as applied to public utilities, was clearly and concisely defined by August Belmont, of New York, in an address a few nights ago at Chicago. He believes there are some things a city should own, and many which she should not; that the real thing, however, is for a city to retain control of such utilities whenever possible, in order to guard against imposition, but not to undertake to own or run them.

But Mr. Belmont himself expresses it this way:

"In my opinion, under right conditions, not only are there no fundamental objections, but on the contrary, there are distinct advantages to a city in going beyond what are considered to be strictly its governmental functions, and acquiring and continuing to hold the title to a transportation system, whether by land or water; perhaps even to other quasi-public enterprises.

"Yet if associated with municipal ownership there is municipal operation of these properties, then I think the justifiable lines of municipal activity have been overstepped.

"Municipalities, as a rule, are unwilling to submit to the expenses necessary to secure the employment of the highest kind of ability, essential for the operation and development of such properties. Yet, without this ability, the property cannot be brought or kept up to the highest state of efficiency. The whole country is scourged for such ability by private capital; compensation is a secondary consideration in that search.

"To subject a dominant political party to the temptations which the employment of a vast number of employees affords, is to be avoided almost at all hazards.

"So far as is possible, legitimate governmental functions of a city should be adhered to by it, and only departed from in practice when, after an exhaustive trial, it is demonstrated beyond question that otherwise satisfactory results are not to be secured. The trial, however, must be made under right conditions and under right auspices.

"The results which foreign cities have accomplished in the matter of operation of so-called public utility corporations are not of such a character as to stimulate their duplication in this country."

The mayor in his annual message recommends that there be passed an ordinance "compelling connection with the sanitary sewerage." Yet he has for many years claimed it could not be done because the city does not own the water plant. A most ridiculous contention this is, it is true, as will be shown if the question ever gets into a court, but the mayor when he makes his recommendations might also furnish a diagram of how he expects them carried out. If the mayor were inclined to demagoguery one would be impelled to think that he made the recommendation simply because he has found out that most of the best, most progressive citizens are convinced that the houses in the sewerage district ought to all be connected with the sewerage.

The saloon men who are abusing the mayor for ordering them closed on Sunday on penalty of losing their license, have simply been hoist by their own petard. The mayor was their candidate, and most of them or their agents got out and worked for him and voted for him both in the primary and the election. If he hasn't delivered the goods he has simply carried out the prediction made the saloon men as a warning before he was elected. The saloon men were not worked by the mayor himself—the mayor is too smooth for that,—but they seem to have been used nevertheless in his interest. They proved an easy mark, and should now take their medicine.

A funny thing about the unexpected breaking of the deadlock by the democrats Friday night is that most of the democratic statesmen are claiming credit for it. Each of them claims that it was solely his nifty brain that evolved the clever scheme, which consisted of the difficult feat of releasing the democratic nominee from the courtesy of voting for a republican.

A "Prosperity Edition" of the Henderson Journal has just been issued, and is a credit to the city as well as to the paper. It compares favorably with any edition of its kind ever gotten out in Kentucky. Its reading matter is entertaining, its pictures up-to-date, and the description of the city and county resources such as to be of great help to both. The Journal is to be congratulated on its progressiveness.

It is beginning to dawn on the minds of the people of Kentucky that the fight over a capitol site may be simply a subterfuge to stay at Frankfort and cost the state about $1,000 a day. By the way, who is it that was claiming credit for this extra session?

Prophet Dowle is unable to cure himself, his wife, or any of his officials, some of whom are reported dangerously ill. The old fossil will probably never die, however, as long as he can Chadwickise his followers and is able to spend the money.

Paducah needs a humane society, but why can't those who have sympathy for the poor, misused, cruelly treated dumb beast each be a humane society in himself? There are laws against cruelty to animals. All they need is enforcement.

"The light plant has been a success in Paducah"—Mayor's message. What a delightful humorist the mayor is! Very few people would have thought of such a pleasant way of reminding us of the city's white elephant on Madison street.

Being a "smooth boy" doesn't necessarily mean being a good mayor.

Hon. Hsi Corbett has gone to St. Louis and from there goes to Uniontown, Pa., to argue the motion for a new trial in the Ezell murder case.

plans. The crowd in the gardens clamored for the czar, hurled abuse at the troops and refused to move. Two companies of guards marched double quick to the corner of the square facing the garden.

The commanding officer shouted "disperse, disperse, disperse." Many in the crowd turned to flee, but it was too late. A bugle sounded and the men in the front ranks sank to their knees and both companies fired three volleys, the first two with blank cartridges and the last with ball. A hundred corpses strewn the sidewalk.

Snow Stopped in Innocent Blood.

Many women were pierced through the back as they were trying to escape. Mangled corpses of all ages and both sexes strewn the ground. One boy's skull was pierced and rent by bullets.

Great splashes and streams of blood stained the snow. Only a few of the victims remained alive, for the fatal volley was fired at a distance of not more than twenty paces and so the ambulances had little work to do. The police recruited a large number of sleighs to carry off the dead.

Heartrending scenes were witnessed as wives, husbands and mothers came up to claim their dead and were carried off with them in the sleighs.

Meantime the crowd had drifted up the Nevsky prospect, yelling "murderers, murderers," and the square resumed its calm aspect, the troops returning to their stations.

It was now the turn for the crowd stationed at the Morskain entrance to the square, where the horse guard repeated the exploit with which they had cleared the molka, and drove the people down the street. Minor fracas occurred in many streets afterwards, but the palace square ceased to be the center of interest. Many lone officers were deprived of swords.

Half a dozen policemen were surrounded by a crowd in a neighboring side street. The policemen drew revolvers and fired, and one of them was killed by his comrades' misdirected fire.

Many Slaughtered.

There was a dramatic scene at the narva gate when Father Gopon, in golden vestments, bearing aloft the ikon and flanked by two clergymen carrying religious banners, approached at the head of a procession of eight thousand workmen. Troops were drawn up across the entrance. Several times the officer called on the procession to stop, but Father Gopon did not falter. Then the order was given to fire first with blank cartridges. Two volleys rang out, but the line still did not waver. Then, with seeming reluctance, the officer gave the command load with ball, and the next volley followed by the shrieks and cries of the wounded. As the Cosacks followed up the volley with a charge, the workmen fled before them, leaving about 100 dead or wounded. It is evident that the soldiers spared Father Gopon. The clergyman by his side was wounded, but he escaped untouched and hid behind a wall until the Cosacks passed, and he was then spirited away by the workmen.

In Hands of Rioters.

At Putloff works the scenes resembled a sham battle. The workmen, facing the troops when the order was given to fire, threw themselves face on the ground. The troops fired on them as they lay prostrate.

Vassili Ostrov quarter was last night in darkness, neither gas nor electricity being available. Shops were pillaged and the strikers burned telegraph poles. Some firing was heard.

It is reported that a body of strikers tried to reach the Tsarsko Selo, where the czar is, but were driven back by the troops after a sanguinary conflict.

During the evening there were more foot passengers in the streets than might have been expected, but nothing like the gaiety and bustle of an ordinary Sunday evening.

Comment on the action of the troops and authorities is bitter, and sarcastic remarks are made that the officers are braver and that "ammunition may be scarce in the far east, but is too plentiful here."

YOU CAN INTEREST HIM.

Any Man Over Fifty.

You can interest any man over 50 years of age in anything that will make him feel better, because while he may not as yet have any positive organic disease he no longer feels the buoyancy and vigor of 25 nor the freedom from aches and pains he enjoyed in earlier years, and he very naturally examines with interest any proposition looking to the improvement and preservation of his health.

He will notice among other things that the stomach of 50 is a very different one from the stomach he possessed at 25. That greatest care must be exercised as to what is eaten and how much of it, and even with the best of care, there will be increasing digestive weakness with advancing years.

A proposition to perfect or improve the digestion and assimilation of food is one which interests not only every man of any age, because the whole secret of good health, good blood, strong nerves, is to have a stomach which will promptly and thoroughly digest wholesome food because blood, nerves, brain tissue and every other constituent of the body are entirely the product of digestion, and no medicine or "health" food can possibly create pure blood or restore shaky nerves, when a weak stomach is replenishing the daily wear and tear of the body from a mass of fermenting half-digested food.

No, the stomach itself wants help and in no round-about way, either; it wants direct, unmistakable assistance, such as is given by one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

These tablets cure stomach trouble because their use gives the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate; one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain digestive elements sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food such as bread, meat, eggs, etc.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and new fangled breakfast foods simply make matters worse, as any dyspeptic who has tried them knows.

As Dr. Bennett says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many "people" seem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores or is protected by a trade mark must be a humbug, whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is observant knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured more people of indigestion, heart burn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run-down condition generally than all the patent medicines and doctors' prescriptions for stomach trouble combined.

LIVELY FIGHT.

Sam Liebel and George Schulte Warrented Today.

A warrant has been issued against George Schulte, who formerly kept a grocery near Eighth and Husbands streets, and Sam Liebel, the grocer who formerly kept at Ninth and Washington streets, for a breach of the peace, alleged to have been committed yesterday afternoon at the residence of Schulte in the Fisherville neighborhood, in which Liebel got the worst of the fight.

The police had witnesses at the city hall this morning, prior to the issuance of the warrants. It was reported that Liebel was badly cut. From what was learned this morning by the officers, Liebel and Schulte fought on the latter's front porch, and Schulte wore a heavy ring and used that fist on Liebel rather freely, beating him up badly. Liebel is confined to his bed and was unable to be out today.

ITCHING ECZEMA

In July, 1893, I began to break out with Eczema on my head, legs and arms, and began treatment with local doctors, but did not get much relief. They said the disease had become chronic. I then quit them and tried various ointments and soaps for another two years, but as soon as cold weather came I was troubled again, so I finally decided to let medicine alone, and for twelve or thirteen years did nothing towards curing the Eczema, except bathing. This seemed to do about as much good as anything I had tried.

During the time I lost about one-half of my hair. I began to S. S. S. doubtful of a cure, because the disease had run so long, but soon discovered your medicine was doing me good, and continued to take it. I used seven bottles, when I was completely cured, not having a single spot on my body, which before was almost completely covered.

P. C. NORFOLK,
1017 Hackberry St., Ottumwa, Ia.

The head, feet and hands are usually the parts affected, though the disease appears on other parts of the body. While external applications allay the itching and burning temporarily, it is the acids thrown off by the blood that cause the irritation and eruptions upon the skin. The acids must be neutralized and the system cleansed of all humors and poisons before the cure is permanent. S. S. S. is guaranteed entirely free of Potash, Arsenic and other minerals. Book on the skin and its diseases sent free. Medical advice furnished free.

Deputy U. S. Marshal George Saunders arrived from Mayfield this morning with Luther Chambers, colored, who has just served a fine in the Graves county jail for bootlegging, to have him arraigned before Commissioner W. A. Gardner for illicit whiskey selling on a government charge. He was held to answer this afternoon.

Police Judge Sanders held a brief session of police court this morning, considering it is Monday morning, and one whole day and two nights had passed since the last court.

Kid Willis, colored, was arrested Saturday afternoon with a quart of liquor and a small glass, evidently starting out to take advantage of a "dry Sunday," and sell whiskey by the drink. He was pretty full himself when arrested and will be tried for being drunk and disorderly and for bootlegging, although there is no positive evidence in the latter. Willis claims he carried the glass with him simply to drink when he wanted to, and measure his drinks. "The cases were continued until tomorrow. Other cases were: Mr. Ed. Thunman, breach of peace, continued until Friday; Thomas Wallace, white, who broke a glass out of the Sherrill saloon, was fined $3 and costs; James Gains, colored, who struck Signora Tyson, colored, fined $30 and costs; the immorality case against Whit Houshy and Nina Robinson, colored, left open; Lizzie Bell, colored, breach of peace, left open; Lum Sams and John Burnett, colored, transfer was on drivers, breach of ordinance, continued until Friday; James Graham, a white boy, carrying concealed a pistol, continued.

Irrevocably shattered by the shedding of innocent blood. He has alienated himself forever from his people.

"Upon taught the workmen to believe that an appeal direct to the 'little father' would be heeded. They have been undeceived. Gapon is now convinced that peaceful means have failed and that the only remedy is force. The first blood has been shed, but more will follow. It is now the people against their oppressors, and the battle will be fought to the bitter end."

Soldiers Held Every Entrance.

The military authorities had a firm grip on every artery in the city. At daybreak guards of regiments of cavalry and infantry held every bridge across the frozen Neva, the network of canals which interlaces the city, and the gates leading from the industrial section, while in the palace square, at the storm center, was massed dragoon regiments, infantry and Cossacks of the guards. Harmed from the bridges and gates, men, women and children crossed the frozen river and canals on the ice by twos and threes, hurrying to the palace square, where they were sure the emperor would be present to hear them.

But the street approaches to the square were cleared by volleys and Cossack charges.

Men and women, infuriated to frenzy by the loss of loved ones, cursed the soldiers while they retreated. Men harangued the crowds, telling them that the time had come to act. Men began to build barricades on the Nevsky prospect and at other points, using material that came to hand, and even chopping down telegraph poles.

A General Killed.

Every officer wearing the uniform of the emperor, when found alone was mobbed. A general was killed on Nicholas bridge, and a dozen officers were seized, stripped of epaulettes and deprived of swords.

Intense indignation is bound to be aroused all over Russia. Workmen and revolutionists expect news from Moscow and other big centers, where troops are not of the same class as the guards regiments of St. Petersburg.

Change Will Be Great.

A member of the emperor's household is quoted as saying that the conflict would end the war with Japan and that Russia will have a constitution or Emperor Nicholas will lose his head.

The Warsaw and Baltic railroad is reported to have been torn up for a mile and a half, but the damage is said to have been repaired. There are rumors of trouble in Finland and of disaffection of troops. By midnight sound of firing had ceased except on Vassili Ostrov island where the troops met a renewed demonstration with several volleys. In the meantime, the strike leaders assembled and decided to continue the struggle with arms. No day was fixed for the next demonstration.

Novelist Gorky Adds Fuel.

At a big meeting last night this message from M. Gorky, the novelist was read:

"Beloved associates: We have no emperor. Innocent blood lies between him and the people. Now begins the people's struggle for freedom. May it prosper. My blessings on you all. Would that I might be with you tonight, but I have much to do."

A workman who was introduced to speak in Peter Gapon's name made a fiery speech. He appealed to liberals to furnish arms. The meeting adopted a letter denouncing the officers and regiments that fired on the workmen, and another letter extolling the Moscow regiment, which refused to fire.

WELL KNOWN HERE.

Former Prominent Citizen of Metropolis, Ill., Dies.

Col. W. R. Brown, a pioneer resident of Metropolis, Ill., and well known in Paducah, died in East St. Louis, where he was residing with his son, and the body was taken to Metropolis for burial.

After residing at Metropolis for many years the deceased left for Cairo, where he lived until about a year ago.

Mr. Brown was born in Louisville Ky., Jan. 19, 1822. In 1846 the family removed to Metropolis, where his mother died. He enlisted in 1861 in the 29th Illinois volunteers, of which he was made lieutenant colonel of the regiment at Cairo forty days later. He later organized the Sixth Illinois cavalry and Fifty-sixth Illinois infantry.

After the surrender of Vicksburg he left his regiment and joined Gen. Sherman's march to the sea.

He was a republican and a former factor in politics in the southern part of the state. He was also a member of the twenty-seventh general assembly, and a member of the board of education of Metropolis for ten years, where he owned large property interests.

He was a very progressive man, and helped get Metropolis her railroad, and was one of the first bankers there.

A son, Mr. John Brown, of Cairo, arrived this morning en route to Metropolis to attend the funeral.

Col. Brown was not only well-known here but is connected by marriage with some prominent Paducah families. His second wife was Mrs. Kitty Glass, who was formerly Miss Nolen, daughter of Wm. Nolen, an old-time resident of this city. She died some years ago. Her son, Mr. James L. Glass, formerly of Paducah, married a daughter of Col. Brown.

Cured Lambago.

A. H. Cannon, Chicago, writes March 4, 1903: "Having been troubled with Lambago at different times and tried one physician after another; then different ointments and liniments, gave it up altogether. So I tried once more, and got a bottle of Hallard's Snow Liniment, which gave me almost instant relief. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will add my name to your list of former sufferers." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

ROBERT BARR.
Author of "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," Etc.

It was after 10 o'clock that there was a rap at the door.
"Who is there?" asked the secretary through the grating.
"A messenger from the court," was the reply. "Frances had come up the hall on hearing the challenge."
"What name?" demanded the secretary.

"The Courcy. Open quickly, I beg of you. The mob has surged down the street, but it may return at any moment."

"Open," said Frances, with decision, and the secretary obeyed.

He Courcy came in, unrecognized at first because of the cloak that enveloped him. The door was secured behind him, and he turned his back to one of the men standing there. His gay plumage was somewhat ruffled, and the girl never thought she would be so heartily glad to see him.

"Is it true that my father is sent to the Tower?" were her first words.

"No, undoubtedly; but he is in custody, arrested by order of parliament, and at this moment detained in the house of James Maxwell, keeper of the Black Rod, who took his sword from him and is responsible for his safety. This said he will be taken to the Tower tomorrow, but they reckon not on the good will of some of us who are his friends, and they forget the power of the king."

Frances frowned, but said:
"What were the circumstances of my father's arrest? What do they charge against him?"

"I don't know what the indictment is; chiefly that he is a Stuart, I think. He entered the house of lords this afternoon and walked with customary dignity to his place, but was curiously ordered to withdraw until he was sent for, as the commons were at that moment circulating their formula against him. He withdrew in the face of this loud protest, and at last, being called, stood before them; was excommunicated to leave, which, with some hesitation, he did, while the articles to his disparagement were read from the woodcock. He was then dismissed, and, once in the outer room again, the Black Rod demanded his sword and so conducted him, under restraint, to a carriage; no man of all then present daring to follow, although they had been obsequious enough when he entered. A scurry, lo!"

"Were you among them?"
"Not I; I give you the account as 'twas told to me, but had I been in that contemptible company, my hat would have gone lower than ever before."

"You have not seen my father then?"
"He has sent no message by you?"
"I have not seen him, but I come to crave a few words with you in private."

"Sir, you must excuse me. I am so tense with anxiety about my father, I can think of naught else."

"It is on that subject I wish to discuss. He has set in train a series of events in which I hope to aid him, but it is like to go awry through this most unlooked for arrest. That is why I was here this morning, and the commission was to have been completed tomorrow. Did he say anything to you about it?"

"You heard all he said to me today. I saw him for but a moment, and that in your presence."

"I had hoped his lordship made a confident of you, so my mission were the easier of accomplishment."
"If it has to do with his welfare, I am ready to confer with you. Come with me to the library."

But before they could quit the hall they were aware that another was taking advantage of the lull in the street to seek entrance to the mansion. Frances paused to learn the mission. This time it was an envoy from Stafford himself, and he brought a letter addressed to "Miss Frances Westworth." She opened and read the note with eager anticipation, forgetting for the moment all who were standing there.

"Sweetheart! You have heard before this what hath befallen me, yet trust that in the goodness of God that my enemies shall do me no hurt. I am troubled that you should be in London at this time, where I can be of no help to you. It would please me to know that you were safe in the home where you have lived until this present time. Think not that you can assist me other than by obeying for I trust in God and the king and in the assurance that I am innocent of the charges made forth brought against me. Therefore be in no way alarmed, but take yourself straightway to the north, there to wait with your brother, as heretofore, until I send a message for you, which I hope to do right speedily. Travel in comfort and security, and take with you such of my household as will secure both."

"My treasurer, John Vollins, will give you all money you require, and this letter is his assurance to fulfill your wishes in this and every respect. Trust in God, give way to no fear, but bear yourself as my daughter. Your loving father, STAFFORD."

The young woman folded the letter without a word, except to the secretary, to whom she said:

"My father writes in good confidence, seeing no cause for alarm, having assurance of his innocence and faith in

A HOWED AND PALLED FIGURE.

Vollins arose and left them together, whereupon the Frenchman, with some slight hesitation, possibly remembering a different plea on that spot a few hours before, began his recital.

"This morning his lordship, your honored father, requested my assistance in a business which he thought I was capable of bringing to a satisfactory conclusion. It concerned a highly placed personage, whom it is perhaps improper for me to name, and perhaps unnecessary for me to particularize further. His lordship's intention was to present this exalted lady with some gift which she would value for its intrinsic worth no less than its artistic quality, and, as he professed himself no judge of such, preferring to depend upon the well known taste of my father in delicate articles of merit, also so far complimenting me as to believe that I could, in suitable manner and phrase, present this token to the gracious acceptor of it, he desired my intervention, and I promised so to pleasure him to the best of my poor abilities. On leaving you this morning I made selection of the gift, and furthermore gave him to the recipient of it in tended presentation—a hint, I may say, which was received with palpable delight. Judge, then, my consternation when I heard of the earl's arrest, for he had promised to pay me the money tomorrow."

The young man paused, his listener pondering with her eyes on the floor. She had such a deep distrust of him, and was so well aware of the prejudice, that she struggled against it, praying for an unbiased mind. Yet much that he had said coincided with certain things she knew—her father's desire that the queen should cease from meddling in affairs of state to his disadvantage and theirs; his seeming friendship for the Courcy, although he despised him; his intention that she should be civil to him; his disclaimer of all knowledge regarding what a woman valued in a gift when he presented her with a full purse the night before—all these fitted with the Frenchman's story. The suppliant, scrutinizing her perplexed brow, seemed to fear that his chance of getting the money was vanishing, as he continued on the line most likely to incline her to favor his present demand.

INTO CINCINNATI.

The Illinois Central May Soon Run Its Own Trains.

A rumor is current in railroad circles that the Illinois Central Railroad company is negotiating with the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern to enter Cincinnati over that road. It is believed in the Queen City that the report is well founded; however, no tangible proof has yet been submitted to show that negotiations looking to this end are on between the two companies.

The Illinois Central runs trains over their own line into Louisville, and the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern has a direct line into Cincinnati from that point. It is understood the Illinois Central desires to operate its own trains, both freight and passenger, into Cincinnati.

NEWS OF THE RIVER.

May Lose His Ferryboat.
Evansville, Ind., Jan. 23.—The steam ferryboat A. D. Owen, at Mt. Vernon, Ind., was torn from her moorings and grounded. She was badly damaged by the ice. The craft maybe lost. The boat is valued at $5,000, and is owned by Capt. Benjamin Hockman.

A Big Ice Gorge.
Evansville, Ind., Jan. 23.—Government Steamboat Inspectors Moore and Veach, who returned today from Cairo, Ill., where they inspected the gorges of the Mississippi, report heavy ice gorge in the Wabash river above the L. and N. bridge, near Cairo, Ill. The gorge is several miles long.

The gauge today is 15 feet, a fall of eight-tenths, with weather clear and cold.

The ice, which was expected to be thin enough for a resumption of navigation between Paducah and Evansville today, was found to be thicker than ever this morning. It is so heavy that the river appears to be a solid sheet of ice, and it is impossible to even guess when boats can again run, as the present weather causes other ice to form and keeps it coming down.

The Charleston arrived from Tennessee river last night and is unloading at Jopka. She leaves again tomorrow.

The Victor will come up today from Jopka and leave for Tennessee river.

The Butteroff is due this afternoon from Cumberland river, and will come if she can make it from Smithland in the heavy ice.

The Dick Fowler left at 8 o'clock this morning for Cairo, the heavy ice not stopping her.

The Clyde is due from Tennessee river, and leaves again Wednesday.

Capt. J. S. Tyner and President Lester, of the New Cumberland River Packet company, were in the city today and left on the Dick Fowler for Cairo to meet the three Red river boats recently bought on the lower Mississippi for the Cumberland river trade. The boats are expected today or tomorrow on their way to Cumberland river. The Cairo Bulletin says: "Three packets, the W. T. Scovell, the Electric and the Red River arrived yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from New Orleans en route to Nashville, Tenn. The boats were lashed together and left at 3 o'clock. They have recently been purchased by Nashville parties to run in trades out of that port."

Chinese Establishment Bought by Other Establishments.

Pang Sam Sing, Charles Gee, Ah Way and Pang Owen, owners of the Chinese laundry on Lower Broadway, this morning closed a deal with the proprietors of the Star Steam Laundry, New City Laundry, Home and Paducah Laundry Co., by which the celestials disposed of their business to the Americans for $800, the papers being duly signed and the transfer legally consummated at 10 o'clock this morning. Attorney E. W. Hagby acting for both parties.

The Americans got together this morning and agreed to buy, resulting as above. The laundry was this morning closed and will remain closed. No division of the business could be made, and the purchasers decided to let the public decide who should have the trade, the patrons telephoning who they desire to do their work.

The Chinamen have not decided where to go, but all will probably leave here, as in the sale they agree not to enter the laundry business here inside of five years.

Theatrical Notes

The announcement that "Everyman," the famous fifteenth century morality play, will be presented at The Kentucky on Tuesday night by Rudolph E. Magnus and his fine company, will undoubtedly create considerable attention.

This remarkable play, truly one of the most interesting extant, has aroused extraordinary interest throughout the English speaking world.

Rudolph E. Magnus' portrayal of the title role has been highly praised by the dramatic critics of Chicago and other large cities, and an exceptionally artistic and scholarly interpretation is assured.

By admirers of the higher class of entertainments and by every student of literature, "Everyman" will be rightly considered as one of the most important engagements of the season and will no doubt draw a large and appreciative audience.

They say that laughing makes you fat,

And the statement I will not deny. But take it from me "The Sambo Girl"

Will make you laugh 'till you cry.

Dramatic reviewers from widely different localities have had Miss Tanguay slated for stellar honors for sometime, and her work in "The Sambo Girl," one of Miss Tanguay's accomplishments is the fascinating manner in which she sings ragtime melodies, and in this particular achievement she is fully the equal of either Marie Cahill or May Irwin. It was from her famous song "My Sambo" that Miss Tanguay conceived the idea for the present play "The Sambo Girl."

Eva Tanguay and "The Sambo Girl" will be seen at The Kentucky on Wednesday night. Seats on sale Tuesday 10 a. m.

Some of the best lines in George Ade's spectacular comedy "The County Chairman," (not a musical comedy) which Henry W. Savage offers at The Kentucky on Friday night, fall to Sassaparilla, a shiftless darky politician, admirably played by the veteran minstrel, George Thatcher. "What's the use of being free if you've got to work all the time?" is one of his favorite expressions. The catch line of the play, however, the line that became a popular saying in New York where "The County Chairman" ran for 259 performances last season is the phrase "As Hill says," and it is used by Jim Hackler, the county chairman, to preface some extract from his favorite poet, Shakespeare. Seats on sale Thursday morning 10 a. m.

The Ezra Kendall trunks attached several weeks ago on complaint of Mr. L. A. Lagomarsino, were today released, the amount of indebtedness and costs being paid by the company.

Mr. A. L. Lewis, in advance of "A Trip to Africa," is at Hotel Lagomarsino.

Taken into the jungles of darkest Africa and treated to something out of the ordinary, those who have had the pleasure of seeing "A Trip to Africa" are free to admit the excellence of the attraction. It is brimful of musical excellence, and altogether is a series of pleasing surprises. John Larkin heads the company of thirty artists of color, whose ability has been recognized in all the big cities of the east since the season opened.

There is one number of the program which is sufficient attraction to draw a full house; it is that famous song that has made such a hit in New York this season, "Shame On You." The others, and there are plenty of them, are hummers.

"A Trip to Africa" is worth the while. It will be made from the stage of The Kentucky Thursday night.
